ASSESSMENT SERVICE

armanino

As your business expands and evolves, and complexity increases, investing in an evaluation of your people, process and technology is a valuable way to prepare for future growth.

Armanino's Technology Assessment Services provide a holistic review of your current business systems and needs including people, process, and technology. Our team of management consultants evaluate your ecosystem, identify gaps versus your goals and objectives, and help you increase usability of platforms, eliminate manual processes, and enable scalability to position your business for growth.

Your Challenges
Businesses are in a constant struggle to manage growing complexity, reduce uncertainty, define a technology roadmap, maintain up-to-date technologies, integrate multiple platforms, and select the right products to fit their needs. Not taking a critical look at how to address these challenges can prevent businesses from achieving their strategic goals.

Process & Value
Our holistic technology ecosystem assessments map your current state, define your ideal future state and align to the "Art of the Possible." We understand your business needs go beyond just plugging in a system. The right technology roadmap can help you make platform decisions, apply resources and time effectively, and simplify the lives of your employees.

With a proven methodology, our team works alongside you to create a roadmap and recommend ways to improve and position your technologies. Our roadmaps enable you to:
- Implement Best Practices
- Align Business Processes
- Integrate Platforms
- Simplify Your Ecosystem
- Eliminate Manual Tasks
- Scale for Growth
- Leverage Data & Analytics

Assessment Types
Health Check:
A preliminary targeted consultation to evaluate the current condition of your entire set of business technologies or the need and requirements for possible new solutions.

QuickStart:
A rapid assessment that digs deeper to understand key details through on-site stakeholder interviews, analysis of business processes, and evaluation of current systems or technology.

Comprehensive:
Inclusive of everything the QuickStart Assessment offers, the Comprehensive Assessment goes a step further to evaluate your entire technology ecosystem. We focus on the integration of your systems and how each individual solution affects the entire organization across people, process, and technology.
